From the Gentleman's Magazine, for August last.

A short View of the State of Affairs at the different Courts of Europe in that Month.

CONSTANTINOPLE.

THE restless Ambition of the Persian Monarch, or perhaps the Necessity of engaging his Forces in foreign Expeditions, to prevent Mutinies and Rebellions, has drawn his Arms upon the Ottoman Empire, of which it is said that he has destroy'd one of chief Frontier Towns, and that he is marching towards Bagdad the Capital of Erzerum The Turks, with that Spirit which is produced in them by a chimerical Notion of their Superiority to all other Powers, have ordered an Army to be levied, and have erected the Horse-Tail at the Gates of the Seraglio. But the News of their Loss caused an Insurrection, in which the Grand Vizir with Difficulty escaped. Whatever be the Event of this War, it commences at a time remarkably convenient for the Queen of Hungary, who would have had Reason every Hour to fear, left France might have incited the Turks to invade her Dominions, had they not been alarm'd by so formidable an Attack on the other Extremity of their Empire.

RUSSIA.

The Facility with which the Revolution was accomplished, seems to have excited in the Russians an unusual Inclination to such dangerous Experiments, another Plot against their Empress having been lately discovered, in which not only some of the chief Lords but also several Ladies were engaged. The Discoverer of this Combination was her Majesty's Physician, who is suspected to have owed his Knowledge of it rather to an Association with the Conspirators than to his Sagacity, and therefore his Conduct has not procured him much Honour; since it reduced him to the Necessity of betraying either his Accomplices or his Mistress.

It is observable that no Complaints are made against the Conduct of the Empress, and therefore the repeated Attempts to dethrone her shew how dangerous frequent Changes of Government are to a State, as they weaken the Foundation of Power, by not suffering any Family or any Form of Government to subsist so long as is necessary to fix the Affections of the People.

SWEDEN.

Stockholm The two unhappy Generals Buddenbrock and Lowenhaupt, after all Arts had been tried in the Senate to obtain a Reversion of their Sentence, or the Delay of its Execution, by a general Review of the Proceedings, are at last executed. Buddenbrock suffered without any very remarkable Accident, but the Fate of Lowenhaupt was more severe; for having for some Time found that the People were inexorable, and that nothing but his Death would calm their Commotions, he had projected the Means to escape by a Hole secretly broken under his Bed. And as the People were assembled to behold his Execution, an Accompt was brought of his Flight The Rage which this Disappointment excited, obliged the Government to order that diligent Enquiry should be made after him, and that the Coasts should be guarded by Ships of War, by one of which he was taken in a small Yatcht, in the Habit of a Seaman, and after having been flattered with the Hopes of an Escape, carried back, and executed the next Day.

The Dalecarlians still continue to threaten an Insurrection in Favour of the Prince of Denmark, nor, tho' the Court appears studious to pacify them by pardoning 900 who committed the late Outrage, do they yet lay aside the Design of imposing by Force of Arms a Sovereign on the Rest of the Kingdom The King has therefore thought it necessary to use Compulsion instead of Persuasion, and has sent a large Body of Forces into their Country, to hinder them from forming an Army.

DENMARK.

Copenhagen. The military Preparations are still continued, though the Use for which they designed is not yet known It is not unreasonable to believe that Danish Emissaries are employed to raise Insurrections in Sweden, and that the Prince of Denmark hopes to animate his Adherents by shewing how powerfully he is able to assist them. But it may be imagined that the Swedes will adhere to their present Choice as it is upon the whole the best that they could make; they will regain Finland, without Bloodshed, an Acquisition which if the Armies and Fleets of Denmark cou'd have enabled them to make, they would have purchased by becoming Dependants to that Crown.

PRUSSIA.

Berlin, All the Troops of this Kingdom are in continual Motion, of which no other Reason is given than that the Garrisons are to be changed, but it's suspected that the King either designs some Attack upon his Neighbours, or fears some Design against himself, it having been reported that the Czarina to endear to the Swedes the Prince whom she has forced upon them, will assist them in the Recovery of Pomerania. Should this be really designed, it might be considered as another Event in Favour of the Queen of Hungary, who would undoubtedly be pleased to see that Prince who pressed so hard on her Weakness, overborn in his Turn by a greater Power. Nor would her Allies be dissatisfied, that he should be diverted by an Invasion to the Defence of his own Dominions, as his present Neutrality enables him to watch Opportunities of aggrandizing himself, and, in Reality places in his Hands the Balance of Europe.

GERMANY.

The French being now obliged to retire into their own Dominions, the Queen of Hungary and Bohemia has Leisure to re-establish the Tranquillity of her Territories, of which the Surrender of Egra, which is daily expected, will put her in compleat Possession It is reported, that Count Herswith who commands there, lately declared, That he intended to set Fire to the Town, and endeavour to escape in the Confusion, and that two Burgomasters came to entreat the Austrian General to grant such Conditions as might prevent so dreadful a Calamity. The General could promise nothing, but that he would lay their Petition before the Queen, It would be the Interest of the Austrians to prevent such an Attempt by a Capitulation; but whatever the French may threaten, it is not to be imagined, that they intend to proceed farther, for the Execution of their Design would not only prove them Barbarians but Madmen. It does not appear how by firing the Town they would become more able to break through the Troops that invest it; nor, if they should force the Blockade, can it be imagined, that they could ever regain their own Country thro' so many Armies that lye ready to intercept them; and what could they hope after such Cruelty, but to be hunted like Savage Beasts, whom it is the general Interest of the human Species to destroy.

The Emperor, tho' dispossessed of his Hereditary Dominions, and obliged to take Sanctuary in a neutral Town for the Security of his Person, remains yet steady in his Alliance with France, and has lately been confirmed in his Adherence, by the Remittance of One Hundred and Sixty Thousand Florins; a Sum which may indeed support for some Time the Splendour of his Court, and exempt him from the Necessity of living by Plunder, but cannot enable him to re enter his own Country, or make any considerable Effort to assist his Ally

The Confederate Army has passed the Rhine, and it is expected that their Motions

tions will enable Prince Charles to enter the Dominions of the French, who, when two Armies are raising Contributions amongst them, will begin to feel those Miseries with which they have so wantonly afflicted the Neighbouring Countries, and sink under the burthen of a War, when it shall be made wholly at their Expence. Some of the Effects of an Invasion begin already to be perceived, the more wealthy Inhabitants are removing their Effects, and every one appears solicitous for his own Security, nor do their Subjects appear to place any Confidence either in their Policy or their Valour. Yet when it is remembered, how long France resisted the grand Confederacy, it can hardly be expected that she will be cheaply conquered, whatever the Raptures of Success may induce us to hope.

The Queen of Hungary is indeed so much convinced of her Superiority, that she declares her Intention of restoring to the Empire what has been taken from it, and appears resolved to punish the French for their Arrogance and Cruelty by pursuing them into their own Country. This Design may perhaps be promoted by the Inclinations of the Inhabitants of the new Provinces to return to their former State. Of the Lorrainers in particular it is affirmed, that they are with Difficulty restrained from declaring in Favour of their Sovereign. To improve this Disposition, Colonel Montzel has published a Manifesto, in which he incites them to acknowledge his Mistress, and threatens Severities against those that resist him; which he has indeed begun to put in Execution, with the expected Effect, having by burning some Villages obliged the People to lay down their Arms.

SAVOY.

Turin. The Spaniards are still attempting to force a Passage into Piedmont, and are still repulsed wherever they endeavour it; having lately been mortified with a Defeat, which in attacking one of the Passes, they received from the Inhabitants of the Country. The King of Sardinia however does not yet endeavour to dislodge: But whatever be the Motive of his Conduct, he appears willing rather to suffer them to ravage his Dominions than to hazard the Chance of a Battle, though it might surely secure a Retreat.

ITALY.

Naples. The Plague which has ceased at Messina, as it appears, only because there remained no more to be destroyed, still continues in Calabria, and threatens the adjacent Provinces. The Dread of this horrible Invader has produced a Kind of Truce in this Country; so is the Balance of Nature supported, a Pestilence puts a Stop to the Devastations of a War.

FRANCE

Paris. Though Preparations for War both by Sea and Land are made with Ardour proportioned to the Danger with which the French are threatened, it is said that their Councils are perplexed, and their Finances exhausted, that their Statesmen differ in their Schemes, and that Expedients for raising Money are practiced, which are, or ought to be, the last Proofs of a distressed State. The King has lately established Forty new publick Notaries of whom each paid 50,000 Livres for his Commission, and a Demand has been made upon the East India Company not only of the Ships which their Patent obliges them to furnish, but of 15,000,000 Livres. Another Proof of the Inconveniences which they feel is their Resentment of the Conduct of those to whom they are imputed. M Broglio, is no less hated by his Countrymen than the Austrians, and in Consequence of the general Censure, is not only deprived of his Offices, but as it is said, obliged to stand the Trial of a Court of Justice.

HOLLAND.

Hague. The March of the Troops under the Command of Count Maurice of Nassau, intended for the Assistance of the Queen of Hungary is now regulated, and it is expected that in a few Days they will join the Austrians, or the Allies, having Orders to act as Auxiliaries under the Command either of the Austrian or British General, as the Queen's Interest shall require, so that there is now a formidable Combination against France, which however it is to be feared some Means may be found of weakening by the Assistance of the approaching Winter.

To the PUBLICK.

I RICHARD WILSON, of London, Gun-Maker, having lately detected a Person in the Country in putting my Name and London on some parcels of Guns and Pistols, which were legally proved, to my manifest Prejudice in my Reputation as a Character, and of the most fatal Consequence to the Persons using them. As also on a parcel mark'd Wilson, London, spelt with a double, instead of a single l: therefore in Justice to my Employers and Self, I think proper to give this Notice, that Persons may be forewarn'd from purchasing them; and as it shall for the future be my utmost Care to prevent the least Imposition under my Name, I will affix to the Stock of every Gun and Pistol, made by me, Richard Wilson of the Minories London, Gunmaker, on a Copper plate Impression, and am using my utmost Endeavours to punish the atrocious Affair, by taking such a Remedy against him as the Law directs. But I hope this Warning will be a Caution; and no Guns or Pistols with my Name will for the future be sold by me without my peculiar Mark thereon as aforesaid, or such Assurances, as may prove them mine, of which I will give publick Notice.

London, Aug. 22, 1743 RICHARD WILSON.
